

I tried to put into words
Just for myself one night,
But found them too inadequate
To tell the story right.

I tried with music and with sound,
With art I labored long,
But found that silence was the best
Expression for my song.