

TO _____

They say words are revealing
And that in every part
Of what is said one always
Lays bare the inmost heart.

And yet how strange, this being,
That I should find instead
I know you by your silence
And what you left unsaid.