

You will be back before the leaves are falling
Again next year and you and I shall go
Down woodland paths together stilled with wonder
Glad to watch the autumn twilight turn to snow.

How many days we knew of lonely dreaming
Each in his own remote and nameless part
Free in a place long lost from life and laughter
I in the innocent recess of my heart.