

THE PURPOSE OF LIFE

Every year, Professor McLoughlin of the Pharmacology Department at P.C.P. and S. would start his courses by presenting to the class the following question: “What is the purpose of life?” By the end of the year, he would answer the question in this way: “The purpose of life,” he would say, “is to reproduce for the future a superior product, one that will improve the strain.”